SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 15 .-- The following procla-To the People of Missouri:

Having been called by the Governor of your State to assist in driving the Federal forces out of the State, and in restoring the people to their just rights, I have come among you simply with the view of making war upon our Northern foes and driving them back. I give the oppressed of your State an opportunity of again standing up as freemen and uttering their true senti nts. You have been overrun and trampled upon by the mercenary hordes of the North; your heautiful State has been nearly subjugated but those true sons of Missouri who have continued in arms, together with my force, came back upon the enemy, and we have gained over them a great and signal victory; their General-in-Chief is slain, and many of their other gen-eral officers wounded; their army is in full flight, and now, if the true men of Missouri will rise up, and rally around their standard, the State will be redeemed. I do not come among you to make war upon any of your people, whether Union or otherwise. The Union peo-ple will all be protected in their rights and prop-at is earnestly recommended to them to re turn to their homes. Prisoners of the Union party who have been arrested by the army, will be released, and allowed to return to their friends. Missouri must be allowed to choose her own destiny. No oaths binding your consciences will be administered. I have driven the enemy from among you. Your first battle has been gloriments this morning. bafore you. Your first battle has been glorious, and your General is proud of you. The opposing force, composed mostly of the old regular army of the North, have thrown themselves upon you confident of victory, but with great gallantry and determined courage you entirely routed them with great slaughter. Several pieces of artillery and many prisoners are now in your hands. The Commander-in Chief of the enemy is slain, and many of the general officers wounded. The flag of the Confederacy now floats over Springfield, the stronghold of the enemy. The friends of our cause who have been imprisoned there are released. While announcing to the army the great victory, the General hopes that the laurels you have gained will not be tarnished by a single outrage. The private property of citizens of either party must be respected. Seldiers who fought as you did day before yesterday cannot rob or plunder.

Trustworthy intelligence from morthweatern Virginia states that Gen. Rosecrans is securely entrenched and with sufficient force to remove any cause of apprehengion for his salety.

The rebels are reported entrenching themselves at a distance of from 15 to 20 miles, with a force variously estimated at from 9 000 to 20 000 men.

The stage coach to Leonardstown, from here, was intercepted this morning by a small detachment of our troops by order of Gen. Forter. An elose examination was made of the passengers and baggage and a quantity of correspondence, designed for rebels in Virginia, much of it was written in a mysterious language, and none had the signatures of the writers attached. The party was arrested, and are now in custody.
